

The government already has processes in place regarding wire tapping. Special provisions should NOT be taken to monitor the internet activity of the average citizen. The American public should not be treated as suspects or criminals without just cause. If we lose our right to privacy because an 'evil regime' makes a foothold in this country or our rights are taken away in order to protect us from the same 'evil regime' the end result is the same. An America with fewer rights for people is no America for me.
